I don't agree, certainly not on Islands. When a strip of wf goes down on islands and there are some experienced players on the map they will do everything they can to defend the base, because people can't but vehicles the hang around at base defending. Put 2 prototypes on the entrance of the base and 2 hottie at the tunnels and defend. The defending will earn you more money then the team who is driving around in their vech's. Eventually you will in points.
