I might be able to help you a little if you want...

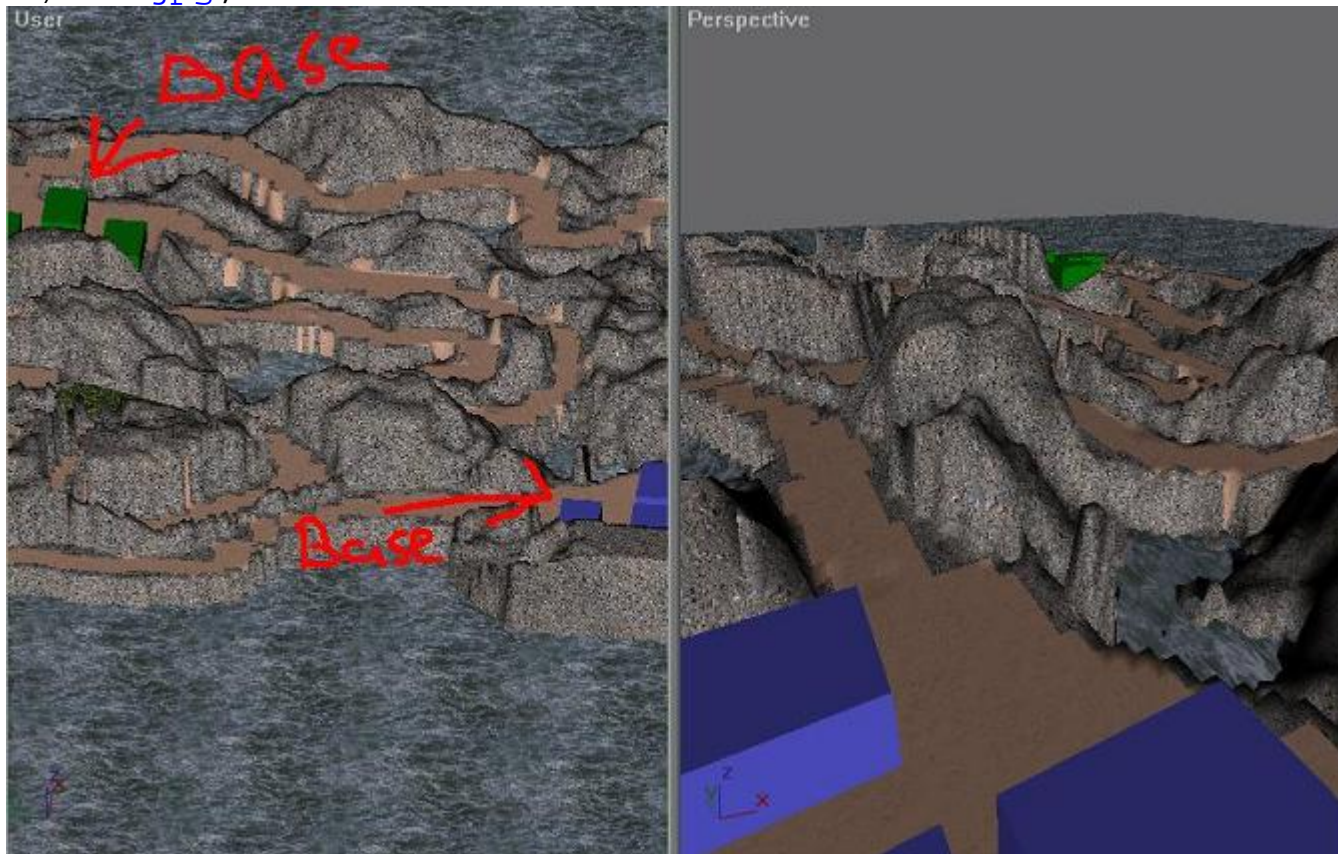

I made the above map in under 6 mins not even joking...as you can see lol....

I dont know how much help i can be i am currently working on my own game... Its not a convection its and actualy game using a completely different game engine so i might be able to help you from time to time once you get a some plans on what you want exactly.

this pic is some models from my own game.
