Nuking Inside: The War Factory

Two very good places to leave a nuke beacon:

In between the console and window opposite the MCT. Hidden behind this otherwise purposeless console, the nuke is quite hard to see.

The other, just outside this same window, between the window and the door that closes over it when a vehicle is built, is also a rarely checked place. You also won't have to deal with mines.

However, be careful of mines and vehicles being built.
