Are you sure you checked everything? I mean, if it boots up at your friends house just fine, but not yours, possibly it is not your computer that is the problem. . . Maybe the outlet in which you are using to plug your computer into is faulty, or maybe your surge protector. Maybe your monitor is to blame? Just a bunch of thoughts.