
Subject: Re: Truth about 9/11...

Posted by Sniper_De7 on Fri, 28 Jul 2006 12:06:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Haven't we already questioned the gov't and debunked every conspiracy out there? The only thing left is the people believing the story who actually didn't read the debunks

Edit: no, I'm not saying odn't question them. But when the same people regurgitate the same things over and over even though it's been debunked for over years. it gets tiring. if you want to side with them for actually questioning the gov't. Don't tell me anything, tell them to use something that hasn't been debunked for years and get some actual points.

edit: if they can. Which, is kind of doubtful considering most people just show these videos being done by teenagers and pass it off as inexcavably true.

and where the fuck did i suggest not questioning the gov't is good? Politicians do shit all the time. But I'm not going to question something that doesn't hold any water.

I think coke killed Socrates with its weird aftertaste
