Subject: Re: Truth about 9/11...
Posted by MexPirate on Fri, 28 Jul 2006 14:24:15 GMT

LOL, the US government is not directly responsible for the attacks - I bet my life on it. You can dig up the past and find evidence to explain why these nutters hated the US enough to make such an attack on it, but that doesn't mean the government is responsible.

What governments and media does do is make their citizens so fucking obsessed with the constant threats that will "kill us all" that we don't mind them spending billions to fight a war that nobody cared about before and you forget all about the other things that matter in the world. Keep us scared, so that we will support them in fighting the evil and forget about people who live in poverty, crumbling schools, citizens with no health care - the things that actually affect the average person life in a big way.