I don't care where the code came from, all I care about is that the server is up and running for the community. Not just as part of BHS, but as a server owner myself. I have spent several hours this weekend babysitting my connection to XWIS and doing heavy modifications to WOLProxy just to keep my server in operation for my players. I had no problem with XWIS when it was stable and we only lost connection once or twice a week, but an outage lasting from Thursday evening (my time) to Tuesday morning is 4 and a half days of no connectivity or shoddy connectivity.

I hope, when the dust settles from this, that there is a new plan in place so this NEVER happens again.
