I think I did send it to the ip you mention. check your email

This is really intended for the very newbish, it's not a rule carved in stone. just a simple tutorial in picture form on what things you can / should run when in Level Edit to help your map.

there are people now asking me for it, so if possible can you get it up on your tutorial site for them to come and get it, I've got it in html format already. and thanks for your support and help.
