I think it goes at the end of the commandline in inverted commas after the username. I am not certain on this but as far as i can remember it went at the end. I can't post it here because it is considered as an exploit when used with WOL. I though the tool put the password in for you anyway?

_General Havoc