

---

Subject: Re: Global warming - reloaded

Posted by IronWarrior on Sun, 05 Nov 2006 18:04:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Dave Anderson wrote on Sat, 04 November 2006 16:07I think it it would be the most neat thing in the universe to see people being able to live on Mars. Some day Earth is going to run out of room for everyone, I mean, we can only build structures so high, and then we will have to start looking into other areas of living area. Under sea? Other planets? Underground? You brought up a good point of view there.

And yeah, I do agree that we will use up the old resources and develop new ones. Hopefully though, the new resources developed in the future can do us the same good as the resources we have now.

As to humans adapting to their environment, evolution theories are going to go berserk.

Well most scientists agree that human kind must expand and explore to survive, if we stay on Earth we will die, we must move out and live on other worlds if the human race is gonna live.

One day we do but not in our live times, though I would like to see man land on mars for the first time, Nasa wants to do that in the next 20-30 years I heard?

---