Subject: Renguard Crash or something.

I have this problem when I start Renegade thru game.exe with a wireless modem even if it is connected to my comp via lan cable:

However, if I use a dial-up cable modem, Game.exe will start properly without any glitches. The problem is, I cannot find the install driver CD for the dial-up modem and the driver I downloaded from the company's website contains about 3 trojans which are smart enough to close any website or program that has to do with anti-virus/anti-spyware (Renguard.com is included lol).

So, is there any way I can run Renegade with Renguard using the wireless modem without any errors?
(I have the Core Patches installed thru the standalone thingy)

(By the way, I have no firewall installed. I just formatted my computer but it also happened before the format.)
