The US is always in some sort of war. Though to be considered a "veterAn of foreign war" you have to earn one of a few select medals or ribbons. I have earned such an award. I spent close to 6 months in the Persian Gulf working 18+ hour days for the duration of that period. Weekends included.

What have you accomplished with your life, xptek? You seem to know everything and have a world of experience behind you. And you feel you're wise enough to take on someone that actually knows what they're talking about. So tell me: what is it that you have experienced that I have not? I'd really love to hear your stories.
