I see nothing wrong with walking behind the harvy into the base if the server is full or almost full. If you have a full server and someone sneaks into your base like that then you suck at defending. Last I checked is full out war no tag.

If I'm in base and the harvy rolls past me ill look to make sure anyone is there just like everyone should in your base. You should always be playing multiple roles. Keep your eyes and ears open to help the team while your doing your bit.
