Anyway, I know some people will say that "its my game, and I like to make it look cooler", thats ok, untill it gets to a point to where your skins give you an unfair advantage against everyone else.

It's my game and I will make it look how i want to...

Only problem is, I make the game an Unfair advantage AGAINST myself. I will show you some pictures of what I mean later, but all of my skins are darker, there is no "RED" in ANY of the Nod infantry and vehicals (yes even the Stank) infact they are dark brown to black cameo, and all of the GDI infantry and vehicals have a darker yellow / brownish Cameo to them, all fo the guns have the normal skins to them except some of them look different when I am holding them in 1st person, but in 3rd person they look normal.

I found myself getting a little too good at spotting vehicals so i did this, now, the Stealth effect is the only thing that has changed, so little though, its still a white effect, just some more lightning. But i made everything harder, i figured I could give myself a break on something
