Subject: Re: Internet Explorer 7 troubles.
Posted by Dave Anderson on Fri, 22 Dec 2006 09:26:27 GMT

I try to design for both, but its hard to do at once. I usually use FireFox for the basis of my design, then fix what is needed for IE. In this case though, I'm using new things I havn't before, and I just can't seem to figure out the problem. I'm sure I will eventually, though.

xptek wrote on Fri, 22 December 2006 02:05On http://www.dcmp.z27.net/Default.aspx, line 90, you should probably close that HR.

One less error to take care of,