Subject: Re: Renguard Crash or something.
Posted by Creed3020 on Thu, 04 Jan 2007 22:05:38 GMT

Again thank you for your reply 0x90 and Blazer you too!

Blazer: There is no firewall on, I can ensure you that. If there were a whitelist I definatly wish Renguard were on it lol...

I downloaded WireShark and installed it. It seems fairly straight forward for someone that just wants to capture some live traffic. If there are any detailed specific things you want me to do then you will need to tell me.

I captured three different runs of traffic, of different lengths. I attached them and you will need WireShark to view them. I made sure absolutely nothing else was running before the captures.

I personally noticed alot of traffic from the router asking whois. Other than that I can't really decipher what it all means.

Please remember that my Renguard worked before, the only things that have changed are my home network and ISP.

File Attachments
1) creed_first_30seconds.pcap, downloaded 281 times
2) creed_first_minute.pcap, downloaded 264 times
3) creed_first_3min.pcap, downloaded 291 times