
Subject: Re: Treatment of convicted cheaters
Posted by warranto on Tue, 09 Jan 2007 17:21:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It doesn't prove anyone's point or guilt, or innocence.

They were instructed to drop it - plain and simply. Despite that warning, things continued on. Spoony seems reluctant to let things simply drop without proving himself correct (only an uninformed assumption), for whatever reason, so something had to be done to get it to drop.

Edit: Just so my position is known:

Had this been a discussion on the CW forums, I would have fully supported a ban on Crimson, and had both been regular users on my forum, I would have banned them both.

It's simply a timeout rather than a permanent ban, but it does take two to argue.
