been around the community for about 4 years now, even though only today i created an account on these forums. im sure quite a few of you have run into me b4 on some servers... anyways, would just like to say that im a fairly mannered guy and dont really flame any1 unless i got a good enough reason to.
and today the leader of the great UN clan has given me a good one.

please take your time and see for yourselves what hapenned and how much of a controlling freak this person is.
i mean for years i have been part of that forum, and every day i see some poor sod getting put on their famous BOS list, and hunted down and banned like scum... now dont get me wrong cheaters have to be dealt that way and i completely agree with that, but some1 who speaks their mind or swears once in their server or forums gets the same backhand i guess.... well anyways here is this one topic over which i got banned. just take a look at howm "fair" this community really is.
