Yay I have found the problem!

OK, I was looking at the Processes tab on Windows Task Manager (ctrl+alt+del) for any un-needed processes which all good gamers do/should do.... and I came accross a process called "rlvknlg.exe" which was under my name.

It looked suspicious, so I googled it and found out that it was adware. I had to find the installation path though as ending the process didn't do anything (i.e it kept coming back).

So yeh, after un-installing it Ren-Guard now works as it should do which is good news :-D
