Actually, nPatches aren't hardware based.

They're driver based, that's why if you get a driver newer than Catalyst 5.08, you can't turn TruForm on.

It hasn't been on the actual card since the ATi 8500.
It's all done on the CPU now, and, that just means it's been all software based for a while.

I mean the 8500 at this point is a seriously old card.

I guess it would take some serious software modding to enable truform on newer ATi, and nVidia cards.

Here's my crash dump from 3.1.4
