Yea i do remember a long time ago Napalmic had started setting up the pathfinding and he did have a ton of areas that had pathfind blockers as you would put it, The areas in green were the areas bots could go, where as red was a totally restricted area for the bots far as i can remember atleast. I am sure it wont kill anyones computer by having just a few bots in seperate locations itself that cannot stray. Like having them inside interiors only wouldnt take much if you made your own pathfinding blockers?
