The RG network seems to be quite unstable at the moment, and both clients and servers are constantly being disconnected. It's just a matter of waiting for v00d00 to finish the new version...

Both servers here havent had one d/c yet, so that disconnect your talking about hasnt happened here to my servers or pc, so i doubt it has anything to do with v00d00 finishing it, but a hint : look into the problem deeper and you will see whats really happening.

As a matter of fact i havent had a d/c on any machine for days.
