One i can remember is in MP-gaming mission DM...i was in a 2 against 1 position where i was the 1, when someone else joined and evened the teams out.

Anyway, i was hiding behind a buggy looking out towards the field (this was on m13.mix) when i saw 2 vehicles blow up simultaneously.

Until i saw him, i thought this was someone pissing about with C4, but then a vehicle on a ledge blew up, and then i saw him running up to me, with a pistol out, and destroyed the buggy i was behind in a few hits.

When i mentioned he was cheating, he said i was lagging, and thankfully, he eventually left.

He came back later on when we were on another map. i didn't notice him straight away, but when his points started rocketing i got suspicious (i didn't keep in mind his name).

People started accusing him of cheating, yet he still dismissed it as lag.

What made me laugh is the sure-fire thing that makes you spot a cheater...he got the 0 bug, and when i spotted that and told everyone, he was out the game quite quick.

Do you remember his name?
