Website - try freewebs or similar where you can create a simple website using templates etc.

Forums are all you really need invisionfree or proboards are a couple of free ones

Making clanwars - just visit other clans forums and introduce yourself and request matches, check out renegadewiki or clanwars.cc if you are looking for lists of clans to contact

If it's just you atm, I would suggest joining an existing clan/community rather than trying to do all this - there aren't many players about these days that are looking for clans.

You have very little chance of finding someone through here that is going to do all that for you.
