Okay, I have been trying to use the script function "Get_Sex" (which sends an A for male and a B for female) to try to make the script detect when it is a male or female, currently I can't get it to do anything, when ever I try making it something like:

char sex = Get_Sex(obj);
if (sex == "A")
And many other attempts with comma's and other stuff I get back an error that const char can not equal a char. Is there a way I could convert the letter A to a char? Or a better way to do the?
