update:

after updating my gfx drivers i have managed to play for over an hour and nothing crashed. the temps are still around normal.
