AS Nukelt said, even he in the 8 years he's been in on Forums he has seen people who have approached using the "polite, calm" approach have been flamed!

You completely missed the point. I said that I've seen people who posted nicely get flamed, but that isn't what usually happens. When people respond poorly to polite posters, other members of the forum will typically call them out and tell them to shut up. However, people who make obnoxious, poorly edited, angry posts like yours almost always get a negative response from almost everybody. Ergo, such posts are generally a bad idea, especially for newer or lesser known members of a forum- and they become a major hurdle for the poster to overcome if they ever want to ask anything of the forum's members again.
