The last virus I got was from an image (.jpg, yes) I downloaded from xptek's server back when I barely knew him.

Anyone with basic computer knowledge should be able to protect him/herself and his/her computer from threats like this. If you happen to have the knowledge and minimal intelligence required to be on the Internet and still got a virus, I advise you log off now.