Logtar wrote on Wed, 02 January 2008 06:20I am brand new here and I have two things to add.

It is F*ing awesome that there are so many people active here. With the exception of one forum that I help run most places are visit are just brainless and cluttered with people that would have never posted on a thread like this either way.

Two, anyone defending Viking is just being nice. The question was not just dumb, in the wrong place, it would have started a flame war on ANY CSS board. A large part of CS players are either young and cocky or so full of testosterone that their brain only half functions... so he actually did not get too bad of a response here.

That is my .2c

Welcome to the boards. Now, understand that this question is NOT in the wrong place, because this is general discussion, meaning anything (Within reason) goes.

Notice any of the other threads here?
"MP3 Player Suggestions"
"Donkey Kong Country 2"
"Super Nintendo Controller"

And yet nobody answers with "WTF Y U POST HERE GTFO TO NENTENDO FORUM". Or "HAY THIS TALK ABOUT MP3 PLAYAR NOT RENEGADE GTFO". If it's not against the rules (This isn't) and there isn't another forum that covers the subject (There isn't), then this is where it belongs. People just like picking on Viking because he's Viking.
