i have windows......i usally think the more price the better....but dang if a software is complex im not sure...i want one that can do what i wrote above and maybe more.. but hopefully not so complex price is no problem for me i guess most may think why...etherway i dont wanna make beats i already got fl studios for that i jsut want a software to add the beat track i make to a recording of someone but be able to change around the voice and effect of the audio recording like iv written above
