Battlezone, not the arcade game, was off the hook and i posted in the pitts about 4 years ago how I thought they were alike.

I never played battlezone multi player but single player was awesome, did it even support multi player back then?

I also thought Renegade may have "stolen" battle zone developers for its muti player and defintely stole the thrill of destroying structures in first or third person which ever Battle zone was.

PS. I couldn't get past like the second or third map in "battlezone 2".
