Sadly, petitions are worthless. I have seen petitions in the past with over 10,000 signatures requesting to stop or change something relatively minor, to no effect.

Do you really think a corporation would halt or change plans they have made and spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on over the course of years, just because 200 random people don't like it? Especially when their marketing people are telling them that a million people WILL like it, which means money for them, which is their whole point of existence.
