About Goztow's and RoShamBo's arguments:
Both have a point.
We all have a right to start a new server.
But it is indeed a fact that the more servers, the lesser the playercount per server will be.
Less players = games dies quicker.

About this topic original question:
Nope, not interested, don't want to sound desperate (even though I might be)

As for Recon's little rant.
Recon, seeing you post about how you accuse people of failure is like seeing a movie from
Osama Bin Laden accusing people of terrorism.
Hilarious, that's what it is. See the irony?
For example your failure in this very thread to flame MP gaming...
