IF is does get released, it should probably (and probably would) be handed to BHS only. Then BHS can get coders under NDAs to work on a patch, and then release the patch after thorough testing. By the time any sort of patch was made, I'd be 18 and happy to sign an NDA to help test, but I think a 3D engine might be beyond my six months of programming experience. lol