But it is possible, its just a lot of work, you would have to make multiple animations, each with different mouth movements, keep in mind that 30 frames is equal to 1 second to play time, once you have that done all you have to do is rig up scripts to fire when the sound file crosses certain time points.