

---

Subject: Re: Do You Like E.A. Games?. I Think.

Posted by [\[NE\]Fobby\[GEN\]](#) on Wed, 16 Apr 2008 03:41:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Well they're definitely at least trying to please their fans, so they get a gold star for that.

But is it successful would be a good question. I thought C&C 3 was pretty fun, it was a pretty good installment to the C&C saga gameplay-wise. Story had its obvious plot holes and mess-ups though.

I personally think C&C would be better off with Westwood still around. We would've gotten Renegade 2, Continuum, and C&C 3 years ago - possibly another few C&C games if they made it till 2008.

I also don't like how EA dropped some of Westwood's other hit titles like the Dune series and Nox. Emperor and Nox were some of Westwood's best games.

But as a whole, I don't think EA is that bad - as I said at the beginning of this post, they definitely are trying their best to please the community.

---