Plus, these days, games like Crysis are "Serious Business" , so it's nice to play a game that's a bit lighter, and appeals to people like me, that don't play too many games.

That's really my whole take on it. Though, I like how EA is taking the whole gameplay step even further and making it so that you only play with people in your level range. Personally, that's a reason why I don't even play TF2 much. I don't play to be the best, but never getting any kills just fucking sucks. If I play against people my own skill level, I'm going to be a lot more apt to play.

Play as ze medic, It's an easy, point whoring, and great class to play, plus you can get new weapons if you get the achievements.

Anyway, troopr02, don't let looks be deceiving in your eyes, sure, it's got cartoony graphics, but the gibbs, the amount of blood from explosions, and awesome jokes and violence in this game is A++ stuff, give it a try, you'll be hooked on this game.

I'm back in Oxford now (hey, any southern folk here? I leave tomorrow so maybe I can come to your house fast and play some Renegade) but when I get home and give Guitar Hero III a blast for the PS2, I'll be back on TF2 because it's that addictive.

yeah I got nothing better to do. woo!
