Madtonehey guys.

well i have been caught out, and now its time for me to fess up.

A few of the models on ModX were not created by me. They were downloaded from various free 3d models sites. And now that i have been caught out, now i need to say im sorry everyone for the trouble i've caused, but there is no way im leaving. Like i said not all of the models i uploaded to ModX i downloaded, most of them i created my self. Im not actually a bad modeler, infact im a preety good one as it happens.

And from now on, im going to build my reputation up the truthfull way upload and showing models i created my self 100% by me.

Now throw all the flames at me what you must, but no matter what... im not leaving.

Im here to stay.

Now im not expecting "oh its ok, we forgive you", thats not what i expect at all, but as a very wise and great person said to me:

Quote:instead of being remembered as a plagarizer, wouldn't you rather be rememberd as an honorable person that made a mistake?

And my answer to that is yes, i want to be remembered as a honorable person that made a mistake. And im going to stay here and work my way from the bottom the hard and proper way.

So expect to see better and 100% created by me coming your way soon.

Seriuosly, to tell you the truth, I don't give a rats ass if you plagarized. Cause to me its just one of those things you just let pass and forget about it.

Atleast you admitted to your mistakes. And thats what a big man does. Not be a coward and run from them. And I respect and honor you for that.