If people didn't pirate games so heavily, there would be no need for this DRM garbage. I'm getting really sick of morons who believe they can get something for nothing, in turn, causing the rest of us grief; it's fucking selfish.

Instead of 'protesting' the DRM by illegally downloading the program, maybe just not buy it, OR not download it. When EA realizes lower profits, and lower piracy figures, they will likely feel pressured to drop DRM.