We won't touch the MRL. This is a balance change. As for enabling/disabling it server sided, I am not sure the normal MRL is capable of it, but if it is we would still need to transmit this to clients. Theoretically we already provide facilities for it, but I do not know how far we will extend it.