

---

Subject: Time Travel and other stuff.

Posted by OrcaPilot26 on Wed, 06 Aug 2003 19:21:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

My theory of time is that it is made up of an infinite number of "frames", but the present is the only point in time that actually exists, as it becomes the past and is destroyed. then the present is created based off the past. This might mean that time itself was predetermined when the universe was created, and maybe, if you have enough energy, you could actually make a bend, or even a hole in time, which would change the present into the past or future.

kinda similar to the parallel universe theory.

---