Chewy,

It is your choice of word that lets you down.

We can all disagree, however we do not not require to resort to such hurtful phrases as "retard".

So many people out here in the "Internet World" as you call it do indeed have family that are impaired in many different way. Not least as you call the them, "retards".

I ask only that you show some young, consideration, for the position that you have as a MOD.

You do not have a position that you can so openly abuse, especially when it demonstrates your immaturity to deal with the real world, not least the virtual world that, sadly, so many believe that you are in. "Your Words".

Call players what ever names you wish. Just beware that some names are more acceptable than others.

In reality, is this how sad and pathetic that some players will go to, just to discredit someone?

I may not agree with all and probably never will but I do still play the game.

Chewy, you must decide as to WHAT, easy target you want (your words).

You can have me that stands up to you and openly challenges your written abuse, or, you can pick on someone weaker.

Either way, you must be shown up for what you really are.

IMHO you MOD abuse your position.
