You know whats real fun? Laying in bed at night wondering what happens when you die. I mean, I'm a religious man, so I believe I'll goto heaven or hell or whatever (purgatory). It gets the worst when I start doubting my faith and wondering what would happen if nothing was there. Like, what if that was it? You living a normal life, and then there is just.....nothing. You can't think, listen, see, just nothing. Then I go back to thinking, 'I'd even take hell over nothing'. Man that sux
