Flash sites load slow, hogs bandwidth and other resources, depends on the user's browser to have a flash-plugin installed, degrade web accessibility and is of proprietary nature; Don't do it!

That being said, the only actual thing Flash is good for, is streaming video.

Adding a few Flash elements to your website to spice things up can be nice if done correctly, but making an entire site with Flash is just stupid.