You'll need Flash to make flashy Flash stuff, but it costs. If you can get a student's package, it'll be cheaper but I don't think there's a need to waste your money on that if you're just making one site.

You have to ask yourself why you need Flash in the first place and whether there are other better alternatives to using Flash.