The whole "I pay the bills" bit has seemed to be one of the biggest flaws in how this community and n00bstories are run.

I am suprised it took so long for such a division to happen. People have just seemed like they were almost affraid to contest the way things are run, because they didn't want to exiled or whatever...

I really wonder, and must ask.

Crimson, do you continue to run this community and n00bstories for the love of Renegade itself, or for the love of being the boss?
