General HavocKeeping out of site and pick of the poor engineers who are behind the tanks (waterfall on field is good for this as you can flank them and watch the tanks turn to scrap Other than that you should defend your team from enemy snipers or find some idiot who gets out of their tank to repair it and kill them, then kill the line of people who try to get into the empty tank.
i am on nod most of the time and i am the only one who ever cares about the nod turrents every one is going and getting killed in the middle and i am at the baes healing the turents as i am geting blown up by 2 tanks
