Unfortunately, as I understand the group in question signed a NDA (Non Disclosure Agreement) with EA, so thats why there is so much secrecy going on. They won't be able to take on any other helpers because anyone new is not privy to the NDA, and EA wouldn't like that. Only EA has the privilege of affirming any changes made to the team, however in most if not all cases, once a team is made and signs an agreement, no one would be added unless something unexpected happens and they are in desperate need of new people.
