FFS this took me 5 sec on google translate...

Quote:

You have to provoke a certain kind of people, you rotate them around the words in your mouth and turn handle so that in the end everything is against her. You attackierst people, insult them and to the mob. You can not just say: they have lost. You say it in a provocative way, like this: you have fatally lost abysmally. This is pure provocation, and endows the people to literally give you answers to tough accordingly. Only afterwards, so you can stand there and tell everyone how unfair can you treat people. There are hundreds of proofs, in all the topics / posts you have made. Your disrespect for others only their opinion represented is real shame.

As you can see it's broken English but it somewhat worked.
