
Subject: Re: The Pointsfix and the Game Listings
Posted by Spoony on Wed, 07 Oct 2009 23:44:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

raven wrote on Wed, 07 October 2009 18:36 That's Roni's business and has to do with his community. The only point I would be concerned with is #1

You say this a lot every time someone from the Jelly camp comes under criticism, such as the INDESCRIBABLE behaviour of your moderator clearshot. If I owe Jelly an apology for "demonising" him (which is a euphemism for saying "jelly, you are my friend but it is my opinion that you shouldn't have this chokehold on the game listings), then there are far better candidates for people who owe ME apologies. for example, roni's behaviour towards me on the pointsfix was ten times worse than my posts towards jelly. for another example, clearshot. for a third, the thing i keep mentioning about the way half the jelly community (including mods and admins) treat me for no worse crime than expressing opinions they don't agree with.

raven wrote on Wed, 07 October 2009 18:36 Had it been a deal "behind closed doors" as you put it, it probably would of had a different result. Not a 9 page thread of going absolutely nowhere other than showing people the immaturity and stubbornness of the entire Renegade community. If we replace "Renegade" with "Jelly" then you're a bit nearer the mark. But that's not nowhere; it's a wake-up call. I said it before. Maybe a few people still thought the Jelly community is qualified to manage this authority, but you guys have done a pretty good job smashing that illusion for the small number of people who still suffered from it.
